Germany, and by means of such propaganda, to create a public sentiment not only to have such criminals freed, but to have this general doctrine of political offenses recognized as a part of our domestic law, the purpose being, when the doctrine is once recognized, to enable criminals and those in sympathy with them to continue such opposition to law and order with impunity. This propaganda has been waged by persons mainly hostile to American institutions, for the purpose of educating the public, as they term it, to the fundamental distinction between political offenses and common crimes, and to work for the recognition by the United States of the status of political offenders, to create public sentiment favorable to such so-called political offenders, and to obtain immediate release for all so-called political prisoners. In order that the general character of this propaganda may be understood, it should be stated that these propagandists term all the anarchists, I. W. W.'s and socialists, who have been convicted of law violation, idealists, and heroes of conscience, and demand their release on the ground that the acts of these persons are political offenses merely.

For my own part, I have always stood upon the theory that it never pays to agitate the agitator. I would not dignify this matter if it were confined to Socialists, I. W. W.'s and anarchists, whether they be natives of this country, or as most of them are, importations from the old world. But when many very well-meaning people, among whom are ministers of the gospel, teachers, editors, and college professors, to say nothing of that vast number of sentimentalists who always stand ready to make heroes out of criminals whenever opportunity offers, feel that it is sufficient reason for the release of these people to say that they are political prisoners, it is proper that something be said on the subject. Men have often been taken off their guard and caught unaware by catch phrases and slogans that seem to express an idea. From the propaganda waged by the enemies of American institutions, these well-meaning persons seem to have acquired the idea from the phrases "political prisoners" and "direct action" who are in prison today are not only violating the laws of the United States but are counseling other persons to law violation are heroes for conscience's sake and akin in some way to the martyrs of old. If this were true, their opinions would be entitled to great weight. But such is not the the state expresses itself through duly enacted law it is repugnant to every nation of the supremacy of the law and its uniform application to recognize the doctrine of political offenses. Again, the reason for this doctrine is not present under municipal law—that is, the domestic law of a state. It has been seen that under international law the reason for the doctrine was the different standards of two or more sovereignties as to civil, political or religious concepts. That reason does not exist under the municipal law of a political state or sovereignty in this country. It would destroy the sovereignty in this country. It would destroy the sovereignty of the state to permit two standards, one repugnant to the other, to exist side by side—the standard of the law and the standard of some individual, or group acting as individuals, to set up a so-called political conscience at variance therewith. Such a doctrine has never been recognized in the municipal law of this country. It is one of the most dangerous cloaks that has yet been devised by the enemies of our constitutional system of government to cover lawlessness and disrespect for law.

Another subject that undermines respect for law, especially prominent at the present time, is an erroneous theory of personal liberty under our constitutional system. This controversy is as old as government itself. It has been asserted with especial vigor recently owing to the eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States and to the amendments in the various state constitutions, and because of legislation on the same subject by congress and the various state legislatures. The question of the limitations of personal liberty is, in the first instance, a question of political philosophy and not of law. The advocates of personal liberty have ranged all the way from those who favor the widest measure of license to the individual to do as he pleases, on the one hand, to those who would restrict the individual by the most puritanic standards, on the other hand. There is no quarrel on my part with any of these groups. As long as life, personality, individual endowment of mind or heart differ, there will be differences of opinion among the constituent members of society on questions of this sort. As long as they remain purely speculative questions in the realm of the political philosophy proposed by their respective advocates as the basis for social organization, there is and can be no objection to them. Everyone has a right to advocate any view that he pleases on this subject. However, when public sentiment has crystallized into law, there can be no question as to the duty of good citizens with reverence thereto. They may still debate as to the wisdom of the law, but there is only one course of conduct, and that is obedience to the law until it is changed.

Personal Liberty.

In order that the weight to be attached to the argument of those persons who claim that their personal liberty is invaded by legislation of congress and the various state legislatures, it may be profitable to refer to the history of this sort of legislation. In the evolution of government we have gradually limited the sphere of individual liberty. A study of the history of legislation wherein personal liberty has been limited by statute will show that these enactments have been vigorously challenged, and the same arguments have been used against violation of personal liberty that we hear today. For example, compulsory education laws, anti-dueling laws, anti-gambling laws regulating social relations, and practically all the abridgments by statute of the common law, have in the past been opposed by the argument that we now hear, namely that they are violations of personal liberty.

Let me be not misunderstood. I do not mean to impute moral turpitude to him who is opposed to the eighteenth amendment or similar amendments in our state constitutions, or who is opposed to the Volstead act or similar legislation in our states. All I mean to say is that the argument of undue abridgement of personal liberty advanced today has in the past been advanced by every champion of lawlessness who has sought to find an excuse for unlawful conduct. And, in passing, let me repeat that this question is older than the American constitutional system. In fact, it constitutes one of the fundamental points of observation in the history of civilization, and has been one of the principal elements in the cycle theory of civilization.

But, gentlemen, whatever be our individual views as to the wisdom of these constitutional provisions and laws made thereunder in our federal and state governments restricting personal liberty, the fact remains that they are on the statute books. They have been regularly enacted and are a part of constitutional and statutory law of the land. If any citizen dislikes the law under which he is living, his relief is through the legislative department of government, and not through those who, under the constitution, have the sworn duty of enforcing the law. As a citizen can not choose what laws he will obey, so, likewise, those charged with law enforcement can not choose what laws they will enforce. The only sound position for those who favor respect for law to take is that those charged with law enforcement must enforce all the laws, and all good citizens must obey all the laws; neither can exercise any right of choice in this matter without placing themselves above the law. It is the part of faithful officials to enforce and the part of good citizens to obey them.

Minority Rule.

Another subject closely related to the topic just discussed that tends to undermine respect for law, and which has been a mooted question in every system of constitutional government, is the mistaken theories of the relation and attitude of the minority to the majority. Recently, we hear much about the rights of the minority, as if it had a special privilege of not obeying the law because it is made by the majority. Our constitutional fathers understood thoroughly the political philosophy underlying the relation of government to individuals and to minor groups of individuals. There was nothing in the doctrine of minorities in relation to majorities that was not before them for consideration. They gave to the world its first solution of that problem in an instrument which protects the rights of minorities, as far as they ought to be protected, and at the same time, left the majority free to carry out the sovereign will.

A Criticism. The criticism of our government, as contrasted with the parliamentary system of government, has heretofore been that by its organization and structure it is difficult for the majority will to express itself freely, rather than the criticism that the Constitution was so made that the majority could ride rough shod over the minority. In view of these constitutional safeguards, there can be no excuse for any person within the domain of this Republic to hold its laws in contempt, to disobey them himself or countenance others to acts of disobedience to them, on the ground that the rights of the minority have been disregarded. It is the duty of the minority as well as the majority to obey the law.

I am fully aware that much that I have said is familiar thought to most, if not all, of the audience now present before me. My experience in the last few months as head of the law enforcing department of the government has carried to me the conviction that these things should be said to the general public. It has been my thought to use this occasion and this audience as the media through which to transmit these thoughts and suggestions to the American people, who are vitally concerned in maintaining a just and wholesome respect for law.

I consider the reputable American lawyer everywhere a part of the department of justice and expect him to give to both the department and the public advice and support, to the end that the law may be universally understood and uniformly enforced.

If laws are obnoxious to the people it is their province to repeal them. Until they are repealed they must be observed and enforced without fear or favor.

The government will endure on the rock of law enforcement; or it will perish in the quicksands of lawlessness.

Those who do not believe in our government and the enforcement of our laws should go to a country which gives them their peculiar liberty.

To those who come to our shores to take advantage of American opportunities it is becoming to wave the hands of welcome. But it is our duty to warn them to stay away unless they intend to observe our customs and obey our law.

My duty is clear. As long as I am the responsible head of the department of justice the law will be enforced with all the power possessed by the government which I am at liberty to call to my command.

DAUGHERTY IN THE QUEEN CITY

Addresses Joint Meeting of Two Bar Associations.

RESPECT FOR LAW
SUBJECT OF SPEECH

Attorney General Points to Dangers in Country.

Speaker Emphatically Declares for Rigid Enforcement of Law Without Fear or Favor. Remedy for Bad Laws.

Cincinnati, Sept. 1.—Attorney General H. M. Daugherty delivered the first address he has made since becoming a member of the president's cabinet here, Wednesday afternoon, at the joint session of the American Bar association and the Ohio State Bar association. His address in part was as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—You have, from time to time, had the privilege of hearing the ablest and most profound men of the bench and bar not only of our own country, but also of the British empire and of other countries. They have presented to you in masterly fashion, the profound problems of the law. I have set for myself a much humbler, though possibly a not less useful task—to lay before you a few of the problems which I face day to day as head of the Department of Justice, in order that you may understand and, through you, the American people, the principles upon which they are decided. Hence, it seems fitting to speak to you on the general subject of "Respect for Law," or, rather, to enumerate to you, for your consideration, some of the things that tend to undermine respect for law.

This subject is not new—few vitally important subjects are new. It is, however, timely. By this I do not mean that we have been suddenly ushered into an era of lawlessness. No attempt will be made to prove by statistical or other methods that lawlessness is increasing. My purpose will be mainly to call attention to certain theories of political philosophy advanced by those who either violate the law, or sympathize with law violators as a defense and justification of their course. Some of these theories are as old as constitutional government, and have been advanced from time to time by those who have sought to evade the penalties of the law.

Respect for Law. Hence, my purpose is, first, to speak to you, by way of background, upon the general subject of respect for law; and, second, to present some of the theories that have been advanced, or more vigorously revived, since the world war, which, if accepted into our constitutional and municipal law, would seriously embarrass the rule of law and order in this country.

Respect for law is the one essential fact of our civilization. Without it, life, liberty and property are insecure. Without it, civilization falls back to the chaos and anarchy of primitive times. Under such conditions, each human being is compelled to attend primarily to his own safety and to the protection of his own property, and has neither time nor opportunity for the intellectual, moral or spiritual development.

The history of civilization has been a continuous struggle for law and order. Through all the centuries men have striven for that protection of life, liberty and property that comes through well-ordered government. Mankind has paid allegiance to lords and overlords who were able to give this protection.

Our present civilization did not come by chance. It is the result of labor, toil, and consecrated service of hand and mind and heart. The wealth of our day in all its forms, is but the surplus of what man has produced and saved over what he has consumed. By the term wealth in this connection I do not mean material wealth alone. It includes every product of mind as well. The mental, social, moral, and spiritual achievements of the past are a part of the wealth of today. Every triumph of mind or spirit that makes for higher and better living today is a part of the world's wealth. This wealth, this stored-up savings of men, constitutes the basis for and conditions all his other activities. A people without an accumulated store of wealth lack the first essential element in their civilization to make them able to accomplish spiritual things.

I know it is often said that this is the wealthiest and at the same time the more materialistic age in the world. That is true in a certain sense, but it is also true that the common wealth of the age as well as the sum total of individual wealth furnishes the opportunity for the achievements that have been accomplished. Our schools and colleges, our libraries, our homes of comfort, our means of transportation and communication, and all our means of enjoyment in life, are physical conditions necessary for spiritual as contrasted with material upbuilding.

The right of property on the one hand, of life, of liberty, of the pursuit of happiness on the other, are not antagonistic and hostile, to be set off in terms of opposition. Material wealth is the handmaid of spiritual achievement—that is, of intellectual, social and moral achievement. To this extent, the right of property is the ally of the right of life in its fullest enjoyment, of liberty in its proper sense, and of the pursuit of happiness. The individual may not be wealthy himself, yet he is the beneficiary of the common and collective wealth in the civilization in which he lives. He is the "captain of his soul" in that he can steer his course as he chooses and lay under tribute the accumulated wisdom and savings of all time, whether it be in the realm of matter or of spirit. Instead of perishing with his own age, this surplus wealth, both material and spiritual, handed down from one generation to another remains to bless and nourish each succeeding generation.

Conservation. Paradoxical as it may seem, all progress is conditioned on the principle of conservation. Conservation, or preservation as it is usually termed, of the wealth of the world, whether it be in the realm of the material or spiritual, is conditioned on the supremacy of the law. If there is one fact history teaches above another, it is that the rights incident to wealth and the rights furnishing the opportunity to enjoy spiritual, intellectual, moral and social things are conditioned upon the supremacy of the law.

I do not mean in what I have said to glorify property or the right of property as the chief aim or end of government. Nothing could be further from my mind. Human life is the supreme object above everything else of all government. Property is subservient to the majesty of a human soul. Disrespect for law has manifested itself in the past mainly by large corporations or aggregations of wealth, commonly known as big business, and by labor organizations in relation to such business. At the present time among the forces that are undermining respect for law are the following: The doctrine of so-called political offenses, erroneous conceptions of personal liberty, and false doctrines as to the rights of individuals and minorities. These may not be the only sources of disrespect for law, but they are deserving of attention at this time because their proponents have been especially active in asserting them since the world war.

I wish to speak briefly on each one of these subjects.

Because of one hundred years of practically uncontrolled freedom of conduct, large corporations and aggregations of persons and capital have resented the interference of laws regulating them in the interest of the people as a whole. This has been a mistaken attitude. Law and order is the shield of business and its only security. The attitude of contempt for law, resulting in an effort to evade and violate it, is suicidal to business, for it removes its only support. Business should see that its security lies in obedience to law; that the whole doctrine of private property depends upon law; that law violation is contagious, and therefore that all other classes of society can adopt towards property and the persons who own it the same methods and the same attitude. It would be unreasonable, indeed, for any element of society to attempt to invoke the law for its security and protection which it has held in contempt and sought to break down.

Effect of Law. This, however, has not been the most immediately harmful effect of the disregard of law by business. Unscrupulous business methods in violation of law, an attitude that the power of wealth lifts its owners above the law so that they can defy it with impunity, arouse a spirit of resentment in society. A prejudice is created not only against immediate acts of law violation, but also against its very existence and lawful operations. In short, the conduct of business in violating law has often produced a reaction in society that has caused restrictions, limitations, and the penalties to be placed upon it that are in some instances unwarranted from an economic industrial or social point of view.

The attitude at times of big business, that it is above the law, has also stimulated the spirit in the lawless element of society must be met by an element of society must be challenged and met by another unlawful act. This, of course, breeds a growing disrespect for law. These acts of lawlessness are contagious, so that the law violator all along the line thinks that he is only following the example set for him by those agencies of business that were strong enough and well enough entrenched to violate the law with impunity. The holdup man is the counterpart of the profiteer. The lawlessness of labor is the counterpart of the lawlessness of capital.

As for labor organizations, many have opposed them in principle, especially the employer class. Whether economically wise or not, it is not material to discuss here. In passing, it may be said, however, that most fair-minded people feel that, in the absence of regulation by government for his protection, the man who toils is at an unfair advantage, dealing as an individual, with his more powerful employer, who often represents large aggregations of wealth. For this reason, society, as a whole, has not opposed these organizations for the protection of labor, the practical fact being that one combination of men have been brought face to face with another combination of men. The concern of society is that it has been the innocent victim of the struggle between the employer and the employee.

Happily, there seems now to be a commendable spirit on the part of the employer representing so-called "big business," on the one hand, and the employee composing the labor groups, on the other, to bring themselves within the law and to respect the law. This is true not only in their direct relation to law, but is true as the statement of an attitude toward each other. However, the efforts in working out a harmonious understanding between capital and labor so as to avoid injury to the public have not made the progress that the friends of good government have wished.

That the public is a vitally interested party is admitted by all. Yet it has little guaranty from law that its rights will be protected. It has seemed to me, therefore, that there ought to be laws to which either party to the controversy could appeal for the settlement of any dispute that arises between employers and employee, in order that the public, as well as the parties, should not be subjected to the hardships resulting from controversies between these two factors of industry.

I do not take the position that either the federal or state governments should enact a code of legislation binding and tying the hands of these two factors in settling their disputes, strikes and lockouts, and similar things, ought to be unknown. These weapons came into existence because a tardy public sentiment did not provide the means to secure justice by those who invoke them. We are now in this situation: In the field of social, economic and political philosophy that must underlie any law on this subject, it may be said that our statesmen, publicists, economists, educators and thinkers are wholly divided. Why? Because in the twenty-five or thirty years that these questions have been gradually becoming more acute they have not had at hand a trustworthy report of the facts of each case as a basis upon which to work. In any particular controversy the employee diligently sets forth his propaganda, having the advantage of an appeal to the people, whose sympathies are always with flesh and blood as against capital. The employer, likewise, by less open but equally effective means, sets forth his propaganda. Each propaganda reaches mainly the class of people previously in sympathy with it. It seems desirable that there should be some agency in government to investigate the facts of each case as it arises, make a finding and publish it to those concerned.

New Nostrums.

I am not much in favor of new nostrums and panaceas to cure the ills of the body politic, but it has occurred to me that there should be some agencies in the federal and state governments of this kind. With respect to such agencies, I venture to make the following suggestions:

First—It is an undisputed fact that the public have a right to know what the quarrel is about in every actual or threatened strike or lockout, and similar controversies. Second—There should be some definite agencies in government for ascertaining these facts fully and making an impartial finding by those specially qualified, both by temperament and training to do this particular kind of work; and such finding should be reported to that it will be a reliable source of knowledge to which students and publicists and statesmen can resort.

Third—Compulsory jurisdiction over these two factors to compel them to submit to an inquiry of this sort is not only desirable but just. Fourth—At present our study of this question has not been sufficiently thorough to warrant legislation compelling the acceptance of such findings by the parties thereto. Therefore, the jurisdiction of the proper agency should be obligatory upon the parties to submit to the investigation; the acceptance of the finding by the parties should be voluntary.

Fifth—The experience of the past shows that in most cases full, accurate, reliable publicity has been sufficient to compel an adjustment of these cases. Public sentiment is a controlling factor, and it is important, in justice to both of the parties, that it should depend upon something more accurate than successful propaganda.

Sixth—In the course of time knowledge of the nature and causes of these controversies derived in this way may crystallize public sentiment to the extent that laws can be enacted making such controversies impossible.

Society is vitally interested in the proper solution of this question. When some such plan as I have suggested shall have been put in operation, then we will have a more intelligent basis upon which to enact compulsory legislation upon this subject.

Act and Conduct. I have been discussing acts and conduct as a basis for disrespect for law. I now turn to a consideration of several subjects that tend to create disrespect for law not by specific acts merely, but by attempts to justify these acts by certain theories of political philosophy. And of these, the first is the so-called doctrine of so-called political offenses. In this country there is now being disseminated an extensive propaganda to dignify the crimes committed by many persons who are now in prison for disloyal conduct or for obstructing or hindering the government in prosecuting the war with Germany.

MISSING SHIP REPORTED SAFE

Canadian Importer Is Located by Searchers.

RADIO MESSAGES TELL OF RESCUE

One Lifeboat Containing Eleven Members of Crew Is Missing. Ship Taken in Tow.

Northhead, Wash., Sept. 1.—Wireless messages received at the government radio station here today, stated all members of the Canadian Importer's crew who remained aboard the distressed vessel are safe.

The Canadian observer located the Canadian Importer in latitude, 39°20' north, longitude, 137°25' west and is trying to tow the vessel to a coast port.

No word of the Canadian Importer's missing lifeboat with eleven members of the crew, has been received here.

Ship Is Found.

San Francisco, Sept. 1.—The steamship, Canadian Importer, believed lost with her crew of forty officers and men, have been found. A wireless message intercepted early today by the United States naval radio station at Yerba Buena Island, declared the missing ship had been located in latitude, 39°20' 137 west.

Assumption that all on board were safe was taken from the statement in the message that nothing but a powerful tug is necessary to carry out the rescue work.

The message was sent by one of the several Canadian vessels standing by in the search for the ship and suggested that she continue on her position in order to relay wireless messages.

GRANGE DAY AT OHIO STATE FAIR

Governor Davis Is on Program for an Address.

Columbus, Sept. 1.—This is Governor's day and grange day at the State fair.

Practically all day is being spent at the fair by the governor, who is to deliver an address in front of the grandstand this afternoon.

This forenoon, the governor visited the exhibits, escorted by the Canton band. Before occupying a seat in the grandstand and witnessing the horse races he lunched at the fair management dining room. Governor Davis is to present the governor's cup to the winner of the three-year-old trot. A box at the horse show in the coliseum, tonight, has been reserved for the governor and friends.

League Gets Dispute. Geneva, Sept. 1.—The league of nations has entrusted the Upper-Silesian dispute to Belgium, Brazil, China and Spain for a decision. It was announced today.

And yet you will find a great many civilized men who are not civil.

THREE THOUSAND ELKS IN PARADE

Annual Gathering in Progress in Sandusky.

Sandusky, Sept. 1.—Close to three thousand Elks marched in parade, in the spectacular feature of the Ohio Elks' twenty-third annual convention, here this morning. The most of them wore striking uniforms of the lodges to which they belonged.

The famous cherry pickers of Toledo vied with marching bodies representing Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Springfield, Dayton, Mansfield and Tiffin lodges. Each of the eighty-six lodges in the state was represented.

Grand Exalted Ruler W. W. Mountain, Grand Secretary Fred Robinson, of Dubuque, Iowa and Attorney General John C. Price, of Ohio, rode at the head of the procession with George J. Doerzbach, Sandusky, state president. The Elks marched through gayly decorated streets, thronged with people.

The race for the presidency, next year, between John Sherry, Ballaig; John B. Stahly, Fremont and John W. Beall, of Lima, is close, although Sherry is picked by wise ones to win. The election will be held at the conclusion of business sessions to begin at 3 this afternoon.

A Baltimore Fire.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 1.—Fire started in the Broadway Storage company's storage warehouse here this afternoon. The flames spread so rapidly that five alarms were sent in, followed by calls for additional apparatus. The building is filled with household furniture and is surrounded by valuable residential properties.

TEAR GAS MAY BE EMPLOYED

To Resist Attacks of Miners in West Virginia.

MOUNTAIN PASSES CLOSELY GUARDED

Women and Children of Miners Establish Field Kitchens Between Logan County Lines.

Logan, W. Va., Sept. 1.—Logan county, in the wild mountains of West Virginia, presents a tragic spectacle, this morning.

Its men, gaunt and hollow-eyed from long periods without sleep, are commanding the ridges. Its women and children have manned field kitchens back of the front, while big army trucks are rushing food and munitions to the defenders in the front lines.

The picturesque hills where the dogwoods are palmed with early autumn yellow and where the squirrels are beginning to bark, are bristling with machine guns and bayoneted rifles that once did service on the western front in France.

Every mountain road—every pass—every hollow, are enfiladed "with Brownings" and "Maxims." Machine gun emplacements of concrete dugouts and "bivies" in the woods, have transformed the once peaceful "little mountain state" into an industrial inferno that any second may run red with blood.

The topography of the upper Guyan valley, wherein lies Logan county, is not unlike the country surrounding Verdun. Blair mountain, where the first battle occurred, might well be compared to the sanguinary "La Motte Homme" or "Dead Man's hill," where at a terrible loss of lives the French held the Boche, and where, later in the war, the Americans, in a brilliant attack, forced the gray-clad Huns backward.

Without the natural fortifications of Logan county, on the Boone border, where 1,000 to 8,000 miners from the "New River fields" and from Kanawha county are crouched for the attack. Several times they have dashed forward, assaulting the Logan defenders on the mountaintops. As many times they have fallen back unable to meet fire which greeted them.

Following the initial assaults the miners have chosen to resort to sniping tactics, lying well protected behind the big rocks, the cliffs and the trees of probably the roughest section of West Virginia.

The defenders of the Logan border have employed many devices of war.

Many drums of "tear" gas lie back of the front, ready to pour out if the miners attempt a massed attack. The gas will temporarily put those who breathe it hors du combat, but is said to not cause permanent injury.

Aeroplanes Above.

Overhead, a number of aeroplanes swoop like great eagles, or soar as do the hawks over the mountains. The planes bring messages of the advancing miners. Cavalry and foot scouts are on reconnaissance parties day and night, while field telephones connect general headquarters with the front. Telephone sets are scattered all over the first line of defense, being on mountain crests, in advance observation positions in the hollows and even on the treetops, where the observers are stationed to guard against surprise attacks.

On the miners' side, in Boone county field hospitals have been established, another echo of the western front in France.

The picture in Boone county is one of revolution. All train service has been suspended and many of the natives have fled their homes. There automobiles are shooting everywhere gathering reinforcements, while commandeered trains also carry miners toward the front.

The trouble between the Logan authorities and union miners is of long standing. In the autumn of 1919 miners assembled in Kanawha county and started a march to Logan. Their purpose was, generally speaking, to unionize the field. They hoped the demonstration would cause the Logan fields to yield from their position of opposition to the unionization of the Guyan valley section.

Violence Threatened.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 1.—Reports reached here that scores of increased citizens are gathering in Harriman, fifty miles northeast of here, to meet officers who are bringing James M. Hopper, forty-five, to Harriman. Hopper is charged with attacking Neville Wright, aged eleven. Officers declare they will be able to cope with any attempt at mob violence. The little girl is in a critical condition.

Battle in India.

Bombay, Sept. 1.—A police superintendent and two soldiers were killed and four soldiers and six policemen were wounded in a battle between 4,000 Moplah Indians and police and military forces in the Malabar district today. The Indians ambushed the policemen and soldiers. The natives suffered about 100 casualties.

"13" IN RED INK IS ON ABANDONED BABE'S CAP

Three-Month-Old Waif Found at Union Station.

LITTLE ONE IS TAKEN TO DETENTION HOME BY POLICE

Note Says: "Three Months Old, Born June 2, Columbus." Several Clues Obtained.

A large-sized boy, three months old, with dark blue eyes and dark hair, and in the best of health, is a waif at the Bain detention home on Wallace street, while the police are working on several clues to locate the mother. The child was abandoned in the ladies' waiting room at the union station, Wednesday evening.

About 7:45 o'clock a report was made to the police that a child had been found on the seat in the waiting room and Chief Thompson went to the depot. Mrs. C. L. Cooper, of Edwards street, and her sister, Mrs. Ramble Buck, of Urbana, saw the child without an attendant and notified the agent who in turn notified the police. They carried for the infant until the arrival of the chief.

Note Under Rubber Band. The child was nicely dressed in white and gave evidence of having had good care. Around one of the arms was a rubber band under which was a note in printed letters on the end of the envelope. This read "Three months old, born June 2, Columbus."

A tan suitcase was left with the child, this being empty and containing no marks by which the owner could be traced.

Chief Thompson made an investigation and inquired about the station and learned that about twenty minutes previous to his arrival a woman judged to be about thirty years of age was seen nursing the baby. On her departure from the depot she went toward Center street.

No Marks of Identification. The clothing of the child bore no trademarks or marks of identification, the only mark being the figures "13" stenciled with red ink on the little white cap.

Mrs. Addison Bain reported today the child to be in the best of health, and stated that it was being nourished from a bottle and sleeping most of the time. The police hope to be able to locate the mother of the child within a short time.

HEAD HAMPSHIRE HERD MAKES A CLEAN SWEEP

In Showing at Ohio State Fair. Other Winners.

Following the dealing out of awards to the stock raisers at the Ohio State fair reports from the Marion county farm bureau indicate that the stockmen of the county have come in for a goodly share of the awards. Dewey Head who has an exhibition herd of fifty Hampshire hogs, is said to have the best showing of Hampshires ever on exhibit at the state fair. Mr. Head's herd has carried off four firsts, including a championship, and seven seconds. In all Mr. Head has annexed a total of thirty premiums and has secured more money than any other exhibitor. In a herd and group demonstration he also took the first and second awards in all the classes. Mr. Head's success is said to be highly creditable since strong competition figured in the demonstration, several large herds from Indiana and Missouri being entered in the contest.

Three Marion county boys, Dallas Head, Douglas Bibler and Clifford Campbell, carried off second, third and fourth awards in the pig demonstration.

SEWER STENCH BLAMED TO DROUTH CONDITIONS

Disinfectants Used by Service Director C. O. Midlam.

COLUMBIA STREET SEWER IS SOURCE OF COMPLAINT

Health Commissioner Tobin Told in Columbus That Conditions Are Worse in That City.

A number of the residents of Columbia street and the vicinity have been complaining of the stench which comes from the Columbia street sewer.

The service director, C. O. Midlam, has made an effort to remedy this as much as possible by the use of disinfectants, and the condition is being relieved to some extent, it was said today.

The odor emanating from the sewer is attributed to lack of water, this same condition being general over the state as a result of the drouth.

Health Commissioner C. M. Tobin, on a recent visit to Columbus, reports that such conditions are existing at that place in a worse degree than in Marion and that in some of the best residence sections.

It is believed that the hot weather coming on as it has with the dry spell, makes the condition more noticeable, and the officials will take every step possible to remedy the nuisance.

A PILGRIMAGE OF LAITY TO THE SHRINE AT CAREY

And Farewell Address of Bishop Schrembs, Toledo.

FEATURE BIG DAY
FOR DEVOUT WEDNESDAY

Our Lady of Consolation Church
Scene of Great Event for Toledo Diocese.

An eucharistic conference of priests of northern Ohio, the first well sermon of Right Rev. Bishop Joseph Schrembs, of Toledo, and a pilgrimage of the laity to the shrine of Our Lady of consolation took place at Carey Wednesday, bringing thousands of visitors to that city. The day was one of impressive religious demonstration. Fine weather favored the occasion, such as it was to have greeted pilgrimage processions ever since the shrine was established. Bishop Schrembs was recently assigned to the Cleveland diocese and will assume charge there September 1. It was quite an honor to Carey to be selected as the scene of his leave-taking. Several Italian brought in visitors by the hundreds early Wednesday morning while many came on regular trains and by auto.

All Clergy in Procession.
All the clergy of the diocese had been invited and nearly 150 priests were in attendance. It was expected they would select some one temporarily to have charge of the diocese until the arrival of Bishop-elect Samuel A. Schmitt, of Nashville, Tennessee. Carey homes along line of march were nicely decorated as a civic courtesy and many business places closed during the hours of the afternoon procession. Members of the Upper Sandusky Flinday, Tiffin and Carey bands supplied music. Ceremonies began at 9 o'clock with solemn pontifical high mass in the upper body of the new church. This portion was but recently completed and is a magnificent edifice. At these services Bishop Schrembs officiated as bishop administrator of the Toledo diocese and bishop designate of Cleveland. He was assisted by the visiting clergy. After an address of welcome by Rev. Aloys, M. Fish, Carey pastor the bishop delivered a most powerful farewell sermon.

Thousands See It.
At 2 o'clock p. m. the impressive outdoor services which thousands had gathered to witness took place. They consisted of solemn procession with the blessed sacrament over the streets of Carey with benediction at the various altars and blessing of the sick and invalids with the blessed sacrament carried by the bishop. The laity carried candles and sang hymns, ceasing each time the bishop arrived at an altar. The order of march was as follows:

Grand marshal and aides, the flag, cross bearer and acolytes, banner of Our Lady of Consolation, school children bearing the statue of the Child Jesus and Sodality and Children of Mary bearing the statue of Our Lady of Grace. Next came sisters from various communities in the diocese. Following were the members of choirs of Tiffin and Carey with instrumentalists for the accompaniment of chants. The clergy and dignitaries marched next and then came the bishop carrying the blessed sacrament under a canopy, accompanied by the officiating ministers. The thousands of laity with lighted candles, among them the invalids, bore the statue of the Sacred heart of Jesus blessing. With them were musicians to accompany the singing.

Down Main Aisle.

The procession was started when the children, girls and young women filed down the main aisle of the church singing "Veni Domine Jesu" and "Jesu, Tibi Vivo." Upon leaving the church they continued singing down the street, thus initiating the procession. The clergy and choir took up and continued the chant of "Panis Lingua" from the main altar inside the church to the first altar on the street. During this time the laity sang hymns. At the first altar at the foot of Clay street the gospel was sung, the clergy chanted and the children and laity sang hymns.

The second altar was at the corner of Main and Lake streets and again the Gospel was sung. After this the Tiffin choir sang, the benediction was given and "Laudate Dominum" sung. While proceeding to the third altar at the old chapel the Tiffin choir rendered selections and the children and laity continued with hymns. The girls grouped themselves about the third altar and after the arrival of the bishop the Gospel was sung while the clergy chanted. The children and girls sang and the benediction was given. Then the clergy proceeded to the new church, and formed a circle in the middle of the street from the Pilgrim House in the direction of the new church.

The laity were grouped behind the priests from the old chapel to the corner of the new church. The invalids and afflicted then advanced and ranged themselves on the lawn between the Pilgrim House and the new church, the clergy and laity extending toward the Pilgrim house. The bishop carrying the blessed sacrament and accompanied by the ministers and children, blessed the sick individually, the clergy and laity joining in the invocations.

At Fourth Altar.
After this the bishop proceeded to the fourth altar on the top of the steps of the new church while the clergy gathered on the steps and the laity gathered in the streets. After singing of the gospel and chanting responses the bishop blessed and indulged all devotional articles held by those in the throng and the final benediction was given.

Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock a holy hour of praise and adoration was held in the lower church led by the bishop and clergy, with sermon by Rev. Fiddolin Stauble, O. M. C.

Special preparations had been made for the visitors in the Carey homes. But were also provided at which refreshments were served. Bishop Schrembs during his administration in the Toledo diocese has given great satisfaction in all church matters and is most highly esteemed in every parish so that the time of his departure finds regret in the heart of every parishioner but all believe that his advancement to the Cleveland diocese will provide an opportunity for even greater work. His successor will be the youngest member of the episcopate in the United States. The time of Bishop-elect Schmitt has been rapid and his popularity as chancellor of the Nashville diocese has been attested so that the Toledo diocese is assured of an other splendid bishop.

M'GINNIS POST'S DANCE DRAWS WELL LAST NIGHT

Father-Son Night Will Be Held Next Week.

McGinnis post, of the American Legion, opened its fall social season with a dance at the White Maple pavilion Wednesday night for legion members and their families and ex-service men.

About seventy-five couples attended and the dance was very informal, all wearing tags with their names to introduce themselves.

The Map-Si-Pat orchestra, of this city, furnished the music for the dancing. Those who did not wish to dance played cards. Army refreshments were served. A number of special dances were features of the evening.

Next Tuesday evening will be father-son night at the club-rooms.

SKELETON DISAPPEARS FROM THIS OLD WELL

Wyandot County Is Confronted with Another Mystery.

About six years ago Delbert Rummell, Wharton barber, walked out of his barber shop one noon and a few seconds later had disappeared. Extended search and investigations by officials and relatives resulted in nothing being brought to light that would definitely indicate what had become of Rummell. The affair provided quite a mystery. Now, when it had almost been forgotten, it came back in the form of a gruesome skeleton that disappeared as mysteriously as did Rummell himself. The story is as follows:

A thresher was completing his work in the vicinity of Wharton. He had come to his last job. He had taken water from so many cisterns in the vicinity that he decided to look for a different one. On his way to the place where he was to do the last threshing of the season he passed a deserted house. It is about three miles southwest of Wharton and no one has lived in it for nine years. Deciding there

Rheumatism

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It

In the year of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Sub-Acute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted know for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely and such a pitiful condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bedridden, some of them seventy to eighty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case.

"I Had Sharp Pains Like Lightning Flashes Shooting Through My Joints."

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and sub-acute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism, to try the great value of my improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address, and I will send it free to try. After you have used it, and it has proven itself to be that long looked for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism, you may send the price of it. One Dollar, but understand I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer, when relief is thus offered you free. Don't delay. might be a cistern there, the men investigated and located one in an L formed by the house. It was nearly full of water.

That afternoon when a tank of water was needed, the water was pumped from the cistern of the deserted house. The pump noticed an unusual odor and a greasiness about the water. So when he had filled the tank he looked into the cistern, then practically empty, and was startled to see a human skeleton in a barrel and beside it a piece of railroad iron. The threshers wished to complete their job, thinking the skeleton safe enough, and conducted no further investigation until the next morning. Behold, when they drew back the lid of the cistern, the barrel, skeleton, and railroad iron had disappeared. Later, officials carefully examined the bottom of the cistern, the result being that they came into possession of a portion of a barber's hair clipper and a barber's comb.

VELOCK ON SPORTS

New York, Sept. 1.—Harry Hornby is as good as "in" with another National league batting championship.

The star batsman of the St. Louis Cardinals with 262 hits and a batting average of .413 in 125 games is more than six-tenths of the way ahead of his nearest rival and unless he suffers an unprecedented slump, he will breeze under the wire a two-time champion.

The batting race in the American league is far from settled. Harry Hellman of the Tigers, who has been leading the league for a good many weeks is hitting .388 today, with Cobb and Ruth close on his heels. Hellman recently went through a batting slump that cut his percentage down to within very striking distance for Cobb, who is now but three points behind him. George Sisler, last year's batting champion, is hitting .372.

The hitting of Hornby, this year, has been decidedly brilliant. The Cardinal star reached and passed the 200 mark in base hits at Philadelphia, yesterday, and incidentally registered his twentieth home run of the season. This record was hung up by Willie Keeler when he made 247 hits as a member of the Baltimore Orioles in 1897 and while Hornby will have to go like a house afire to get forty-two hits in the twenty-nine games remaining on the Cardinal schedule. It is a good bet that he runs his total well up to that mark.

The American league record for the most base hits in a season is 257, hung up, last year, by George Sisler.

Dave Ruth, with forty-eight home runs to date, is four ahead of his 1920 mark at this time.

LAST OF MERCHANTS' PICTNICS BIG SUCCESS

Program Is Opened in Afternoon with Ball Game.

WHICH IS WON BY AD CLUB FROM KIWANIS

Following the Automobile Display, the Various Contests Are Held—The Winners.

Wednesday marked the close of the picnic held under the auspices of the various branches of the Merchants' at Lincoln park. It was a most successful closing for the series of six outings and for which Guy Hulise, secretary of the association, is to be given much credit. Many of the picnickers took their dinners to the park and spent the afternoon and evening, and a record crowd was on hand during the day and in the evening.

The program of the afternoon opened with the baseball game between the teams representing the Kiwanis club and the Ad club. There was much rivalry between the teams, especially since they played the same several weeks ago. Both teams had been holding daily practice sessions in preparation for the contest and they fought every inch through the seven innings. The Ad club was better fortified in the battery department and came out victorious by a score of fourteen to six. Young and Van Arman did the battery work for the Ad club and Mouser and Harris and Prichard for the Kiwanis club.

Automobile Display. Following the baseball game there was an automobile display in front of the stand and then came the contests. Following the events there was a balloon ascension and after the supper hour Dowler's band rendered a program and the Elks' double quartet gave several numbers. The program of events and winners was as follows:

Seventy-five yard dash for boys from ten to twelve years of age, won by Richard McAnich, of Patten street.

Sack race for boys from twelve to fourteen years of age, won by Samuel Brown, of Wilson avenue.

Seventy-five yard dash for girls from ten to twelve years of age, won by Edith McMurray, of north Grand avenue.

Wheelbarrow race for boys from fourteen to fifteen years of age, won by Samuel Brown, of Wilson avenue, and Charles Pfeiffer, of Carhart street.

Backward race for girls from twelve to fourteen years of age, won by Clara Uhl, of Tully street.

Running high jump for men over eighteen years, won by John Woodruff, of east Church street.

Pipe race for men over twenty-one years of age, won by C. Gassaway, of north Main street.

Nail-driving contest for girls and women, won by Mrs. Wayne Disbenett, of Congress street.

Fifty yard dash for women, won by Mrs. Arthur W. Oldham, of Courtland avenue.

The Old, Old Times, Will Probably Ne'er Return, But—

WHEN Eggs were 12c a dozen and print butter 18c a pound the farmer's wife received the "butter and egg money" FOR PIN MONEY.

Those were the days when pins were six papers for a nickel, when shaves cost a dime—gasoline brought 9 cents a gallon—ice cream sodas, any flavor, were five cents each—cooks received $3 a week and a respectable suit of clothes sold for $15.

TODAY—at this store—suits of similar quality, but embellished in style—improved in material—refined in manufacture—strictly all wool—many with two pairs of pants—are selling right now for $25—an example of reasonable pricing not even approached by nine-tenths of other "life's necessities."

Of course we don't ever want the old standard of lowest wages and lowest prices again but "The Men's Store" has taken the lead in bringing you lowest prices at the new level.

Men and Women of Marion, this homely message is being penned to impress upon you the plain truth.

CONSTITUTION DAY AND WHAT IT ALL MEANS

President Harding Writes Letter on Subject to W. L. Curry.

SECRETARY OF OHIO SONS OF AMERICAN REVOLUTION

Saturday, September 17, This Year—Probably Will Be Observed Friday in Schools.

In recent years Constitution day, September 17, has been observed in various public schools throughout the country at the request of the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution. In 1929 there were 31,000 ceremonies appropriate to the day, observed in the American public schools. Marion has never yet observed the day and no action has been taken up to this time on observing it this year.

This year September 17 falling on Saturday, the day will be observed in the schools on Friday.

The Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution have taken up the matter the past number of years, the members feeling that the children of this country should be enlightened on the constitution of their country and their plan is that at least an hour of that day should be given to some speaker to make an address for the enlightenment of the scholars on the constitution. An effort is being made by the Ohio branch of the American Revolution society to have the day observed this year by all the public schools in the state. The society also desires all its branch organizations and other patriotic societies to also celebrate the day with patriotic ceremonies.

Harding Letter.
The following letter has been received by W. L. Curry, secretary of the Ohio Sons of the American Revolution, from President Harding, a member of the Ohio society, in regard to Constitution day.

"It is a pleasure to address a word of greeting and encouragement to those who will unite this year in celebrating Constitution day, September 17. I have always thought of Constitution day as marking the real birth of our nation.

"In speaking on September 17, last year, I said:

"I know that we date our independence to the memorable July day in 1776 when the bell of Independence hall 'rang out liberty' to all the people of the world. I know that the confederation of colonies was the great, the essential step toward the consolidation of victories of the revolution—but it was the ratification of the inspired constitution of 1787 that first established us as a nation. I want it to abide; I want it to impel us onward; I want the republic for which it was conceived; and I want the republic governed in America under the constitution."

A Supreme Test.

"With all sincerity and with a conviction that has been strengthened by the events of the past year, I can now repeat this expression.

The living times of the last seven years have supremely tested the governmental system of all the world; and I feel that we of America may well felicitate ourselves and give thanks to Divine Providence that in this test no governmental system has demonstrated a greater capacity to meet and bear the utmost stresses of human crisis, than our own. This knowledge can not but enhearten us as we look to the future, with its many and difficult problems still to be met.

"Once more, we may remind ourselves that the constitution is strong enough for every requirement, elastic enough to adapt itself to changing conditions, and developing evolutions. So on this anniversary we may well dedicate ourselves to the supreme purpose of maintaining our institutions under it, and of making them in the future, as they have been in the past, a beacon light to illustrate the way of progress for men seeking freedom everywhere."

Still have a few Felt Hats to sell at your own price. Don't miss our Friday special. Marion Millinery, 199 west Center street—Adm.

Picnic Supper and Corn Roast Late Yesterday.

DANCING AND CARDS ENJOYED IN EVENING

Annual Meeting of the Marion Country Club Holding and Operating Companies.

At the annual meeting of the Marion Country Club Holding company and the Marion Country Club Operating company at the club-house, south of the city, Wednesday evening, Clifford A. Owens and Frank A. Huber, whose terms expired as directors of the Holding company, were reelected for a term of three years, and Dr. D. W. Brickley, Frederick Haberman, Jr., and R. T. Lewis whose terms as trustees of the operating company expired, were also reelected for a term of three years. T. R. Allen, O. E. Kennedy and A. C. Henderson were named as an auditing committee.

The election of officers will be held the second Tuesday in January.

Preceded Supper.

The meeting of the two companies was held in the open about 7:20 o'clock, following a picnic supper in the park to the west of the club-house.

The meeting was opened by W. T. Jones, president of the holding company, and Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, one of the trustees of the operating company, gave their reports, as did also W. T. Jones, president of the holding company and M. C. McNell, president of the operating company.

J. E. Phillips outlined the proposal for a campaign for additional members to be held soon. J. W. Jacomy, a director of the holding company and chairman of the by-laws revision committee, made a report on the proposed changes in the by-laws. These changes were adopted at the meeting.

George B. Knapp, chairman of the house committee, gave a report on the house rules and regulations.

Best in Business.
Bernard Ridgway, of Columbus, golf instructor, is one of the best in the business and he has made many warm friends here.

Preceding the meeting a family picnic was held, many driving out to the club grounds in the afternoon and while some played golf others amused themselves in various ways and enjoyed the cool of the grove.

About 200 were present for the picnic supper and corn roast and the men and their families gathered about tables spread in the park and had a delightful meal.

Later in the evening dancing and cards were enjoyed until 11 o'clock.
